SHARING SCHEDULES

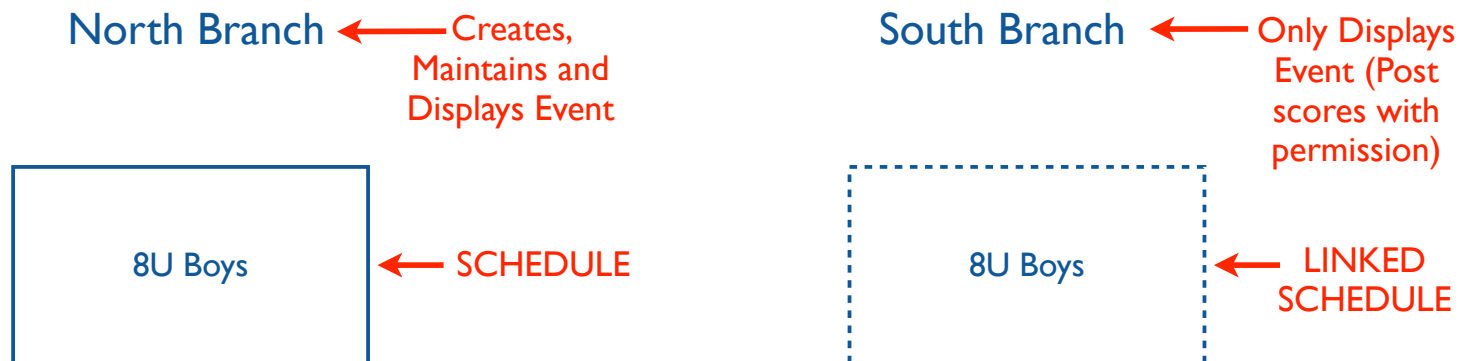

Using Linked Schedules

(V003)

LINKED SCHEDULES

If you have athletes that play in leagues or tournaments in another organization, you can show those schedules on your site too, without copying them and creating a maintenance nightmare.

Two or more organizations can share a single schedule by using Link to Shared Events. One organization creates and manages the schedule, along with posting scores for the event, while a second or more organizations display the event. The creating organization can optionally allow those organizations that link to their events to post scores to the shared events. The public will see linked events in exactly the same manner and format as events created on your website.

2 - Scoring Permission

Start typing the name of the organization who you want to give permission to post scores.

When organizations appear, choose the correct one.

Repeat as needed to add all those organizations you want to allow to post scores.

Be sure to click Save before going on.

The screenshot shows the "Linked Organizations" window with the search box now empty. The list of organizations now includes "Denny's Grand Slam Baseball League" with a checkbox next to it. Below the list is a "Save" button. Below the "Save" button is a search box labeled "Add:" with the placeholder text "Enter Organization Name". A red arrow points from the text "Be sure to click Save before going on." to the "Save" button.

Once completed, the sports administrators from the Linked organization will be able to post scores.
